Urban farmers want data on roof harvested rainwater quality, an alternative water source which could meet urban agriculture needs and irrigation water standards.

57% of water, 90% of soil, and 96% of produce samples did not contain E. coli.